

STUDY TITLE	MID-Q Response
STUDY POPULATION	In the general population, Asian adults were found to have narrower QRS complexes compared to white adults, possibly related to smaller heart sizes in Asians. In addition, association between LVEF and QRS duration have been observed between white and Asian patients with HF. Asian heart failure patients had shorter QRS duration, had smaller body size and had more severely impaired LVEF.
PRINCIPAL INVESTIGATOR	Dr. Azlan Hussin, Senior Consultant Cardiologist, Cardiology Department, IJNSB
STUDY COORDINATOR	Nurhazwani Hamzah Contact number : 03 – 2617 8451
START DATE	26 August 2020
END DATE	28 April 2023